EU External Relations after Brexit Implications under EU and International Law

A workshop organised by
Prof. Juan Santos Vara

Jean Monnet Chair in EU External Action, University of Salamanca

Prof. Ramses A. Wessel

University of Twente and Centre for the Law of EU External Relations (CLEER)

Facultad de Derecho | Universidad de Salamanca | 7-8 March 2019

This workshop will analyse and discuss the applicable rules of both EU and international law in relation to the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. It will focus on the impact of the withdrawal agreement and the arrangement for the future EU-UK relations on the existing external relations regime of the European Union.

Ever since the notification of the UK's intention to withdraw from the European Union, legal scholarship has pointed to a variety of complex legal problems. While the focus has clearly been on the ways in which the UK could remain connected to the EU, the consequences for the EU's (and the UK's) external relations regime are equally complex. Both EU external relations law and international law have something to say about the problems that still need to be solved and the ones that can be expected on the basis of the new arrangements.

This workshop takes advantage of the availability of the new texts and will use these as a basis for further legal scrutiny and to offer possible ways out. We invite papers on various topics related to EU and international law, including:

- International treaty law and Brexit
- Brexit and the question of international succession
- Brexit and existing EU international agreements
- EU and UK international responsibilities after Brexit
- Brexit and the UN (Security Council)
- Brexit and the position of the EU in other international organizations
- Post-Brexit obligations of the UK
- Brexit and questions of (extra-)territorial application of EU law
- Brexit and borders
- Common Foreign and Security Policy after Brexit
- Common Security and Defence Policy after Brexit
- Brexit and EU diplomacy
- Brexit and the EU's neighborhood
- EU migration policy after Brexit
- EU climate and environmental policy after Brexit
- EU trade policy after Brexit
- The Area of Freedom, Security and Justice after Brexit
- EU-UK police, surveillance and intelligence cooperation

Submission and selection of potential contributions

Interested researchers (in every stage of their careers) should submit an English abstract of around 500 words (approximately one page) addressing the conference theme at savajuan@usal.es no later than 30 November 2018. Please include your name, email and affiliation along with your abstract.

As we aim for the publication of a book, paper proposals will be subject to a strict selection. The selection of the papers will be communicated to the speakers by the end of December 2018.

Confirmed participants are expected to provide complete drafts of their papers of around 8000 words no later than 1 March 2019.
